Judge Bullock Speaks At Next Club Meeting

Plans for the next dinner meeting of the National Business and Professional Women's Club of Torrance were discussed at the regular business meeting held Tuesday night at the Nurses' home. The dinner will be given this month at the Palms Verdee Club. Judge Georgia Bullock of Los Angeles will be the speaker. Members will bring guests at this time, and are requested to reserve their reservations should they wish to bring others.

At this meeting, the message of the national president, Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, regarding the five-point plan was presented. The message is as follows:

"It includes provision of shelter for homeless unemployed women, contributions for relief of the unemployed women workers of the white collar class, prosperity campaigns to stimulate community buying; extension of opportunities for vocational training to the temporarily unemployed and creation of jobs for women out of work. Clubs co-operate with relief agencies.

"We recommend this program with confidence," Mrs. Bowman said, "because every phase of it has been tried out in some community and found successful."

"In Everett, Washington, one of our clubs inaugurated a campaign to provide temporary shelter for unemployed women. Sixteen other women's organizations joined in the movement. The building obtained includes sewing room, dining room, kitchen, living room and ten bedrooms, furnished by donations of various clubs. A 'preserving campaign' during the summer stocked the kitchen with food. Employment has been found for a number of unemployed women. Baskets of food and clothing have been provided for
